Software Alliance Earns ISO 27001 Certification

London, 01/07/2026

Dear Customers and Partners,

We're delighted to announce that Software Alliance has achieved ISO 27001 certification.

This is a significant milestone for our business and reflects our ongoing commitment to information security, governance and continual improvement.

Achieving ISO 27001 is about much more than earning a certificate. It recognises the maturity of our Information Security Management System and the way we manage information security across Software Alliance. It reflects the policies, processes and culture we've embedded to continually identify, assess and manage information security risks.

Most importantly, this certification provides added assurance for our customers.

As organisations place increasing emphasis on security, governance and regulatory compliance, ISO 27001 provides independent assurance that Software Alliance operates a robust Information Security Management System that meets an internationally recognised standard.

While our customers experience the benefits through the products and services we deliver - including Mo.net - the certification recognises the management system and processes that sit behind them.

For our existing customers, it's further confirmation that protecting your information is at the heart of everything we do. For organisations evaluating Software Alliance as a partner, it provides confidence that they're working with a specialist software company committed to the highest standards of information security, governance and operational excellence.

This achievement is the result of the commitment, professionalism and hard work of everyone at Software Alliance. Thank you to the entire team for making it possible.

Achieving ISO 27001 is an important milestone - but it's only the beginning. We'll continue to strengthen our Information Security Management System, refine our processes and invest in continual improvement so our customers can have confidence they're working with a partner who takes information security seriously.

Warm regards,

The Software Alliance Team
